

Welcome to this week's LarLu Minute – helping you capitalize on upcoming events, popular products, themed product combinations and holidays.

This week's highlight – Table covers. I recently attended a college campus event where local businesses were recruiting college graduates. I could tell immediately the name of the companies whose display included a custom table cover - they stood out from every other exhibitor who did not use custom covers. Make sure you customers have a strong presence at their community events, trade shows, and corporate lobby.

Use our full color printing capabilities on the entire surface of the cover for companies who want to match their exact PMS colors or want a multi- color design that commands attention!
